PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I'm a highly skilled and experienced Frontend Web Developer & UI Engineer based in West Sussex, England. I've been helping small businesses, companies and organisations build their websites for over 15 years and have a proven track record of delivering web solutions on time and to a high standard.

I enjoy a team environment and am told I communicate and work well with technical and non-technical people alike. I always aim to build web solutions that are as resilient, usable, and future-friendly as possible with a keen focus on user-centricity, responsive & intrinsic design, progressive enhancement, accessibility, semantic markup, web standards and performance.
